

HARDING'S INAUGURATION

MID-WEEK PICTORIAL

AN ILLUSTRATED WEEKLY PUBLISHED BY The New York Times COMPANY
VOL. XIII, NO. 2,
MARCH 10, 1921.

PRICE TEN CENTS
[CANADA 15 CENTS]

MISS
HOPE
HAMPTON

(© Evans.)

Marine Launchings and Disasters Here and Abroad

GREATEST OF U. S. SUBMARINES
Giant U. S. submarine S-48 leaving the ways at Bridgeport, Conn., Feb. 26. It is the latest word in submarine construction and the most effective of its kind in the world. It is 240 feet long, with a maximum beam of 21 feet 6 inches, a draught of 13 feet 6 inches and a displacement of 950 tons. It can submerge to a depth of 200 feet.

(© International.)

INDIAN PRINCESS AS SPONSOR

Princess Tocomas (with flowers), a lineal descendant of Uncas of the Mohican tribe, acted as sponsor at the launching of the S-48. The vessel is one of ten of the same type to be added to the U. S. Navy. It carries four 21-inch torpedo tubes in the bow and one in the stern, in addition to a four-inch 50-calibre gun just forward of the conning tower.

(© International.)

WRECKED IN FOG
The British steamer Kennet of Grimsby piled up on the "Sow and Pigs" rocks off Blyth, Northumberland. She was wrecked in a fog, the crew being rescued by the rocket apparatus after the lifeboat had grounded. She lies high and dry at low tide.

(© Underwood & Underwood.)

GERMAN LINER TURNED OVER TO ENGLAND

The ex-German liner Von Tirpitz, one of the largest steamships launched, has recently been turned over to Great Britain as one of the items in Germany's reparations. She is here shown arriving at Immingham Dock. She is of 29,000 tons and 600 feet long.

(© Underwood & Underwood.)

NOTICE TO AMATEUR PHOTOGRAPHERS:—The MID-WEEK PICTORIAL will pay $10 for the best photographic print of any big event in the United States or Canada of the week's news taken by an amateur photographer. The editors will make the choice. Any other submitted prints used will be paid for at $2 each. Prints not used will be returned only if postage is sent. Send the prints unmounted, any size. Address The MID-WEEK PICTORIAL, Room 1708, Times Building, Times Square, New York City.

MID-WEEK PICTORIAL

VOL. XIII., NO. 2.

NEW YORK, MARCH 10, 1921.

PRICE 10 CENTS.

Wives of Members of President Harding's Cabinet

MRS.
CHARLES
E. HUGHES

Wife of Secretary of State.

(© Harris & Ewing.)

MRS. JAMES
J. DAVIS

Wife of Secretary of Labor.

(© Underwood & Underwood.)

MRS.
EDWIN
DENBY

Wife of Secretary of Navy.

(© Underwood & Underwood.)

MRS. HENRY
C. WALLACE

Wife of Secretary of Agriculture.

(© Clinedinst, from Underwood & Underwood.)

MRS. ALBERT B.
FALL

Wife of Secretary of the Interior.

(© Harris & Ewing.)

MRS. HARRY M.
DAUGHERTY

Wife of Attorney General.

(© Bain News Service.)

MRS. WILL H.
HAYS

Wife of Postmaster General.

(© International.)

MRS.
HERBERT
C. HOOVER

Wife of Secretary of Commerce.

(© Underwood & Underwood.)

Recent News Incidents Gathered by the Camera

CINCINNATI, OHIO

Automobile made by Albert Pelzel, a mechanic, in the family kitchen of an upstairs flat. After it was done he got it through the window and down to the street by taking off the wheels and axles.

(© Underwood & Underwood.)

STRATFORD, CONN.

Fire at the Stratford High School that fortunately occurred at 3 o'clock in the morning instead of during a school session. The inside of the building was wholly destroyed at an estimated damage of $200,000. Three firemen were injured.

(Amateur Photo from Harry E. Carpenter.)

PORTER, INDIANA

Deplorable train wreck in which 37 or more were killed and over 100 injured when a Boston to Chicago express on the New York Central crashed into a Toronto-bound express of the Michigan Central. The New York Central engine crashed through a wooden day coach of the Canadian flier, smashing it to kindling wood and strewing the bodies of the dead for many yards along the right of way. The cause of the accident is being investigated.

(© International.)

BALTIMORE, MD.

Statue of Benjamin Franklin, cast in Baltimore, that is to be carried by motor to Waterbury, Conn., where it will grace a public square. Designed by Paul W. Bartlett, New York.

(© Underwood & Underwood.)

From All Sections of the United States

HARTFORD, CONN.

To prevent any plea of ignorance on the part of automobilists, this huge sign has been erected along one of the principal roadways of the State, giving the leading features of a auto regulations and warning of penalty for infractions.

(© Publishers Photo Service.)

HEYWORTH, ILL.

Paul E. Draper, at right, receiving a check for $26,000, his reward for the capture of William Dalton, the sixteen-year-old bond thief, and the return of the $771,500 stolen from the Northwestern Trust Company. He recognized the fugitive from a newspaper photograph.

(© International.)

CHICAGO, ILL.

New Wrigley Building on Michigan Boulevard, Chicago, one of the tallest of the Chicago skyscrapers. A back view of the structure is given with the old Rush Street Bridge in the foreground. This will be shortly removed. The upper stories of the building will be used chiefly for offices.

(© Underwood & Underwood.)

BERKELEY, CAL.

Greek theatre erected on the campus of the University of California. The ancient theatres have been closely followed in its construction. A Sunday afternoon band concert of sacred music is being given.

(Amateur Photo by J. H. G. Wolf.)

NEW YORK, N. Y.

Demonstration of the snow-flusher recently perfected by Fire Chief Kenlon of New York City. The new device is a water gun operated from the front of a baby tractor and is fed from the high pressure fire service through a hose. It exerts a pressure of 150 pounds.

(© International.)

Inauguration of President Harding, March 4, 1921

Immense throng witnessing the inauguration of Warren G. Harding as twenty-ninth President of the United States on the east steps of the Capitol.
(© Underwood & Underwood.)

WARREN G. HARDING took the oath of office as 29th President of the United States, March 4, 1921. The ceremony took place under cloudless skies and was witnessed by an immense multitude. In deference to the new President's wishes, the inauguration was carried out with extreme simplicity, and most of the pomp and splendor that have attended similar occasions was absent. The inaugural address was characterized by solemnity and elevation of tone and was delivered impressively. His voice reached clearly the furthest limit of the throng. The speech ended with the Biblical quotation: "What doth the Lord require of thee but to do justly, to love mercy and to walk humbly with thy God?" Then he added, "This I plight to God and country."

The inaugural oath was administered by the venerable Chief Justice of the United States Supreme Court, Edward White, upon the Bible upon which George Washington swore his fealty almost 132 years ago. The volume belonged to St. John's Masonic Lodge of New York City.

President Wilson made an earnest effort to take part in all the proceedings customary in the case of an outgoing President relinquishing office to his successor, but physical weakness compelled him to withdraw before the ceremonies were completed.

Prior to the President's inauguration, Vice President Coolidge had taken the oath of office in the Senate Chamber. Vice President Marshall surrendered the gavel to his successor in a felicitous speech and the latter made his inaugural address, which was listened to closely and warmly applauded. President-elect Harding also made a brief address and presented his list of Cabinet members, whose appointment was promptly confirmed by the Senate.

President Harding taking the oath of office, administered by Chief Justice White. Left to right, front row, are: (1) Chief Justice White, (2) President Harding, (3) Senator Knox, (4) ex-Vice President Marshall and (5) Vice President Coolidge.
(© Keystone View Co.)

President Wilson and President-elect Harding leaving the White House for the Capitol. In front are seated "Uncle Joe" Cannon and Senator Knox representing Congress.
(© Underwood & Underwood.)

Mrs. Harding and Mrs. Wilson starting from the White House for the brief ride to the Capitol.
(© International.)

Historic Bible on which the oath of office of President Harding was taken. It was used by George Washington when he became first President of the United States, in New York, April 30, 1789.
(© Harris & Ewing.)

Crowd listening to the inaugural address of President Harding. The utmost quiet prevailed during its delivery. By the use of amplifiers, his voice reached the furthest limit of the throng.
(© Harris & Ewing.)

President-elect Harding and Senator Knox, followed by Representative Cannon, walking up the steps of the Senate Chamber to witness the inauguration of Vice President Coolidge. President Wilson is seen in car. He entered the Senate later.
(© Underwood & Underwood.)

NIAGARA, "POURING O'ER ITS MIGHTY BRINK THE WATERS OF A WORLD," IS ALWAYS SUBLIME AND AWE-INSPIRING, BUT ITS BEAUTY IS PERHAPS MORE IN EVIDENCE IN WINTER THAN AT ANY OTHER PERIOD OF THE YEAR. THEN THE FROST AND ICE WORK MIRACLES AND MOLD THE SPRAY INTO FIGURES OF ENCHANTMENT. THE VIEW HERE SHOWN WAS TAKEN THIS WINTER FROM VICTORIA PARK, ON THE CANADIAN SIDE.

(© Colonial Press Service.)

Actresses and Striking Scenes in Current Plays

Scene from "Peg o' My Heart." Peg (Laurette Taylor) has interrupted the elopement of Ethel (Grete Cooper), her haughty cousin, and takes the blame of the situation upon herself, as Mrs. Chichester (Maud Milton) and Alaric (Percy Ames) arouse from slumber. Ethel faints at the denouement.

(Photo by E. White.)

ANNA
PAVLOWA

Russian dancer, opening with her Ballet Russe in New York for short season.

(Photo by Eugene Hutchinson.)

PHYLLIS POVAH
in the role of Dinan, in the comedy, "Mr.
Pim Passes By."

(Photo by Ira D. Schwarz.)

SHIRLEY WARDE playing the leading feminine part in
"Smooth as Silk."

(Photo by Ira D.
Schwarz.)

Tense moment in "The Plaything of Broadway" when Lola (Justine Johnstone) has been declared irresistible, and Pell, the cynic, wagers $10,000 that she cannot tempt his friend.

(Realart Pictures.)

Curious and Amusing Features of Animal Life

BROWNIE

Highest salaried dog in the movies, who does a marvelous series of tricks that bespeak the highest order of canine intelligence. He is here pictured holding a nursing bottle for a baby. He is about six years old and is part terrier and part bull. One of his favorite "stunts" is rescuing children from burning buildings. He grins from ear to ear at his own practical jokes.

(Universal-Century Photos.)

JOE MARTIN

Ourang-outang who is said to be the cleverest monkey in the world and seems able to do almost anything but talk. He is seven years old and is insured for $50,000. He is particularly gentle and tractable with children and handles babies with the utmost care. In moving pictures he plays his parts with great ability.

(Universal-Century Photos.)

"WRIST-WATCH" DOG

Roscoe, a five months' old Manchester terrier, whose owner, Mrs. S. S. Karlson of San Francisco, claims he is the smallest dog in the world. He weighs thirteen ounces. His owner carries him about in her purse.

(© International.)

COW WITH TRIP-LETS

It is very rare for a cow to have three calves at a birth, but this Hereford cow, the property of Messrs. Edwards of Llanover, Wales, has that distinction. The three calves here shown with their mother are perfectly strong and healthy.

(© International.)

Notable Events in Three Continents Illustrated

U. S. SAILORS AT PERUVIAN BULLFIGHT
Bluejackets of the Atlantic Fleet witnessing a bullfight at Lima, Peru, during the recent visit of the fleet to that country. The early stages of the fight are shown, while the banderillo was maddening the bull with his red cloth.
(© Wide World Photos.)

MARRIAGE BUREAU IN FRANCE

The arrangements for marriage in France were very conventional before the war, but of late formalities have been largely abandoned and bureaus similar to the above are springing up everywhere.

(© Wide World Photos.)

LINKED BOHEMIAN TWINS

Josefa Blazek and her widowed sister, Rose Blazek Dvorak, who recently arrived in New York. They are joined together from shoulder blade nearly to the knee. The son of one of them is standing by his mother.

(© International.)

LOCOMOTIVE ON LEDGE

In a train wreck on the Canadian Rockies the locomotive, coming round a sharp curve, ran into a rockslide, leaped the track and plunged down a sheer side of the canyon toward the river 500 feet below. Almost by a miracle it was checked at the ledge shown.

(Amateur Photo from Francis Dickie.)

THE PROHIBITION LAW SHOWS ITS TEETH.

THE FIRST GERMAN
SYMPATHY MEETING
SINCE THE WAR
HELD UNDER POLICE PROTECTION.

J. NORMAN LIND.

THE WEEK—By J. Norman Lynd

[COPYRIGHTED 1921]

A NEW PRESIDENT.

OUR DAILY HOLDUP.

THE SPECTRE IN EVERY HOME
SAYING "GIMME, GIMME!"

Diplomats, Legislators, Authors and Executives

SIOUX INDIAN DELEGATES
These two Sioux Indians, shown with Secretary of the Interior Payne, recently visited Washington to file suit against the Government for lands in the Black Hills region that they claim were fraudulently obtained.
(© Harris & Ewing.)

W. P. DILLINGHAM
Republican Senator from Vermont and father of the bill that has passed the Senate and House limiting immigration to 3 per cent. of alien residents shown by 1910 census.

DR. JAMES R. ANGELL
Whose election as President of Yale casts aside traditions of 200 years, as he was neither a member of the Faculty nor an alumnus of the university.
(© Harris & Ewing.)

THOMAS HARDY
Distinguished British author of "Tess of the D'Urbervilles" and many other great novels, who recently celebrated his 80th birthday.

ROLANDO RICCI
New Ambassador from Italy to the United States, at the convocation exercises of George Washington University, where he received the degree of LL. D.
(© Harris & Ewing.)

HENRY P. FLETCHER
Who will serve as Assistant Secretary of State in the new Harding Cabinet. He has been in the diplomatic service since 1902, serving last as Ambassador to Mexico, from which post he resigned in February, 1920.
(© Harris & Ewing.)

J. A. BARNET
First Minister from Cuba to China. The picture was taken in front of the White House, where he called on his way to his new post in Peking.
(© Harris & Ewing.)

THEODORE ROOSEVELT
Member of New York Legislature, recently chosen as Assistant Secretary of the Navy. It is interesting to note that both positions were held by his distinguished father.

Happenings of Interest in Various Parts of Europe

NEW BRITISH AIRSHIP R-80

This latest of British giant dirigibles is here shown emerging from her hangar on Feb. 9 for the first of her trial flights. She made a cruise of two hours and a half and met successfully all the tests required of her. Captain Little commanded the airship, which traveled at a fairly good height. Her normal speed is expected to be about 75 miles an hour. She embodies all the latest lessons in dirigible construction.

(© Underwood & Underwood.)

FOOTBALL MATCH IN TOWN STREETS

Novel to American eyes would be the Ashbourne (Derby, England) football match which is played annually between the "Upwards" and the "Downwards." The goals (mill wheels in the stream) are four miles apart, and play usually continues until midnight. The game occurs on Shrove Tuesday. The "Downwards" are here shown gaining ground.

(© Underwood & Underwood.)

HAVOC WROUGHT BY ALBANIAN EARTHQUAKE

Entire cities were ruined in the greatest earthquake known for hundreds of years that recently occurred at Elbassan and Tepelena, Albania. Two hundred people were killed, 18,000 made homeless and 2,000 homes destroyed.

(© Kadel & Herbert.)

QUAINT CARNIVAL SCENE IN BRUSSELS

Prosperous and serious business men of Brussels compose the Conservatoire Africain, a society that once a year goes through the music halls, theatres, &c., collecting money for orphanages or Summer colonies for poor children.

(© Underwood & Underwood.)

British King and Queen Visit Parliament in State

THE opening of the British Parliament took place on Feb. 15 under the same circumstances of pomp and pageantry as prevailed before the war. The cortege passed through streets lined with cheering crowds. With guards in scarlet uniforms and bearskin headdresses stationed along the route and an escort of horse guards in shining cuirasses and helmets accompanying the royal carriages, the scene was one of picturesqueness and splendor. The Prince of Wales proceeded first to Westminster in a state coach drawn by six bays, driven by a coachman in white wig and scarlet and gold livery, with two footmen standing up behind. Then followed the royal procession with officers of state in five similar carriages and the King and Queen in a gilt coach drawn by eight black horses. The Queen wore the great Cullinan diamond, glints from which could be discerned as she bowed right and left to the crowd. In the House of Lords the scene was still more brilliant, with peers in scarlet robes, peeresses in gorgeous gowns blazing with jewels, and heralds in mediaeval tabards.

The Royal cortege leaving the House of Lords in London at the conclusion of the ceremony of opening Parliament, Feb. 15, 1921. There was more state and splendor connected with the function than at any time since the ending of the war. Crowds lined the streets, and the royal couple were everywhere greeted with cheers.

(© Wide World Photos.)

The King and Queen in the great state coach richly gilded, which was drawn by eight black horses and escorted by a detachment of horse guards in glittering uniforms. Alongside the coach walked heralds, rod bearers and other functionaries dressed in the garb of mediaeval times. Elaborate precautions were taken to check any disorder, but they were not needed.

(© International.)

Plebiscite, Disarmament and Economic Problems in Germany

GERMAN unity, for a few days, was effected by the proposal sent from Paris by the allied Premiers to the German Government Jan. 30. This provided for the payment of 226,000,000 gold marks in annuities spread over forty-two years, in addition to semi-annual payments of sums amounting to 12 per cent. of Germany's exports for a period of forty-one years. Dr. Walter Simons, the Foreign Minister, told the Reichstag on Feb. 1 that the Cabinet had empowered him to inform the Entente Governments that the Paris proposal could not even be considered as a plan for the settlement of the reparations to be paid by Germany for war damages. He was applauded by practically the entire House—the handful of Communists excepted—and by the crowds in the galleries. Press comment, from the Right to the Left, was unanimous in asserting that the allied proposition meant slavery for Germany for two-score years and could not be accepted.

On the other hand, the German Government seemed anxious to make an attempt to comply with the Paris Conference's decision that the disarmament terms agreed upon at the Spa meeting must be met by July 1, at the latest, this being an extension of six months from the original date. The moot point is the disbanding of the Bavarian and East Prussian "home guards," bodies of several hundred thousand armed men controlled by the reactionary elements and maintained for the double purpose of holding down the revolutionary workers and preparing the way for a possible restoration of the monarchy.

Celebration of Upper Silesia Day in Berlin, Feb. 6, when 50,000 people were in line as a protest against the allied policy in Upper Silesia. A plebiscite will be taken in that region on or about March 20 to determine whether it shall go to Poland or remain under German rule.

(© Underwood & Underwood.)

American cowboys on board ship West Arrow which docked at Berlin Feb. 7 with 742 milch cows given to Germany by American farmers. The men were received in Germany with great cordiality and taken on a tour over the country, making their quarters in a Pullman car. The cows were distributed in most needed districts.

(© Keystone View Co.)

Officials in Berlin carrying air bombs and rifles gathered by them in their house to search for concealed weapons. Under the terms of the peace treaty, these are to be delivered up to the Allies.

(© Underwood & Underwood.)

Demonstration in Munich when the terms became known of the Paris Conference demand that Germany pay $56,000,000,000 in reparations in addition to a tax of 12 per cent. on exports for a period of 42 years. 30,000 took part in the protest.

(© Keystone View Co.)

Figures and Contests in Field of Sports

CUBS OFF FOR TRAINING

Members of the Chicago Cubs at the Santa Fe Railroad Station, Chicago, just before starting for their training work in California. William Veeck, President of the club, is at extreme left. Most of the men are "rookies," but Johnny Evers (with hat and cigar in hand) is in centre.

(© International.)

RACING IN SNOW

Exciting moment during a horse race on snow-covered ground at St. Moritz, Switzerland, the famous Winter resort.

(© Keystone View Co.)

HEAD PROTECTION FOR BATSMEN

Skull cap weighing but seven ounces and made of pneumatic tubing to protect batters against the deadly effects of the "bean ball"—such as killed Ray Chapman.

(© Underwood & Underwood.)

TENNIS CHAMPION

At left Miss Phyllis Walsh of Philadelphia, winner of the women's championship tennis tournament at Palm Beach. She defeated Mrs. R. L. Wood at right.

(© International.)

JACKSON-DUNDEE LIGHTWEIGHT BOUT

Willie Jackson at right and Johnny Dundee at left, just before their fight at Madison Square Garden Feb. 25, which Jackson won in fifteen rounds.

(© International.)

Activities, Accomplishments and Fashions in Woman's Realm

MISS ELSIE HILL
Temporary Chairman of the Executive Committee and the National Council of the New National Women's Party, who has issued a call for a meeting of the committee in Washington, D. C., for the purpose of electing a permanent Chairman.
(© Harris & Ewing.)

DOUILLET MODEL worn by Jane Meredith. It is made of lustrous jade green
French satin, the skirt and train faced with cloth of silver and trimmed with silver lace and hand-made bands of silver and blue pearls.
(Photo by Bachrach.)

NEW HAIR STYLE THAT LEAVES THE EARS UNCOVERED
Paris seems to have decreed that this season feminine ears shall be revealed to the public. In some cases the revelation is to be total and in others partial. Both styles are here illustrated. In the above picture, at left, Miss Adele Enright of "Irene" has adopted one style of coiffure, while the semi-revelation of the ears is made by Miss Julia Silvers of the same company, at right.

FRENCH DOLL FAD
Miss Inez Plumer with a hand crocheted doll, the making of which has become a fad in fashionable Parisian society. The pet dog has been replaced for the moment by this new fad. The dolls are made to match costumes and afford great scope for individual taste and ingenuity.
(Photo by Bachrach.)

SMART AFTERNOON GOWN
worn by Madge Kennedy. It is a Bergdorf-Goodman creation of gold lace and satin. The broad sash and bow, the ends of which reach to the bottom of the skirt, have a fetching effect and the style promises to be exceedingly popular during the coming season.

MISS GEORGETTE COHAN
(that was) and her husband, Mr. J. William Souther, with whom she recently eloped from Palm Beach, Fla. She is the daughter of the well-known actor, George M. Cohan, who wired congratulations from New York.
(© International.)

Engineering Achievements, Inventions and Improvements

FLOATING MACHINE SHOP

A novel idea which consists of taking the shop to the ship to make repairs while the ship is discharging and loading cargo instead of taking the ship to the shop to repair, which might mean a great loss in time and demurrage charges. The shop is here seen lying alongside the Italian steamer Brenta, which at the time was loading grain at the Grand Trunk docks at Portland, Me.

(Amateur photo from John L. Pike.)

UNWRECKABLE BOAT

This new type of lifeboat is a Dutch invention. When the crew is in the boat it can simply be closed and thrown overboard. It will hold about 30 persons. After it is in the water the hatches can be opened.

(© Keystone View Co.)

UNSINKABLE BOAT IN ACTION

The crew is here shown setting up the mast after the boat has reached the water. The greatest danger in shipwreck is that lifeboats overturn while being lowered. If this boat overturned it would right itself and the occupants are safe.

(© Keystone View Co.)

SEPARATION APPARATUS

With a maximum speed of 17,500 revolutions a minute, this new apparatus recently adopted by the Bureau of Soils, United States Department of Agriculture, divorces liquid from solid particles with unprecedented rapidity.

(© H. & E.)

AIRPLANE STABILIZER

Automatic device invented by a French engineer designed to control every movement of an airplane with the exception of steering. Any tendency to a list or plunge is immediately rectified.

(© Colonial Press Service.)

That Contribute to Social and Economic Progress

GLASS-LINED MILK TANK

In this tank, lined with glass, milk can be transported without using cans or bottles. In loading the truck, gravity causes the milk to flow from the storage vats into the tank. When the tank arrives at its destination either gravity or suction forces the milk out. A haul of 100 miles only increases the temperature slightly.

POWERFUL SIXTEEN-CYLINDER AERO ENGINE

This engine is of 1,000 horse power and, it is claimed, will revolutionize aerial navigation. It is built on an entirely new principle. A feature of the engine is the setting of its sixteen cylinders. (© Underwood & Underwood.)

NOVEL SNOW SCOOP IN NEW YORK STREETS

One of the new scoops removing the snow in the vicinity of the City Hall, New York. It is an endless chain device which scoops up the snow and deposits it in removal carts. It can do the work of fifteen men. (© International.)

STATION ANNOUNCER FOR CARS

An electric button pressed in one car of a train as it approaches a station will cause the name of the street or station to appear simultaneously in three cars, thus doing away with the trainman's call.

THE OPTOPHONE

A remarkably useful instrument which enables the blind to read ordinary books by transmuting the printed letters into terms of sound.

(© Colonial Press Service.)

Paintings and Sculpture Now Attracting Public Attention

"IN THE HILLS"

Winner of the Thomas B. Clarke prize of $300 at the Ninety-sixth Annual Exhibition of the National Academy of Design, New York City. It is the work of Leon Kroll. The ingenuousness of the figures in the foreground is admirably depicted.

(Photo by William McKillop.)

"THE ADORATION OF THE MAGI"

Famous painting by Peter Breughel the elder (1525-1569). It was formerly in the Vienna Gallery, and was bought after the war for a Swiss collection. It has been offered to the British National Gallery for $75,000.

"THE FOUR HORSEMEN"

Striking allegorical statue of Conquest, War, Famine, and Death, just completed by Lee O. Lawrie, Professor of Sculpture at the Yale School of Fine Arts.

As the Cartoonist Sees It

EVERYBODY'S LEARNING IT
—Newspaper Enterprise Association, Cleveland, O.

DID YOU KNOW WHAT TEMPTATION REALLY WAS?
—Albert T. Reid.

EMMA GOLDMAN SAYS SHE PREFERS IMPRISONMENT IN AMERICAN PRISON TO FREEDOM IN SOVIET RUSSIA
—Central Press Association, Cleveland, Ohio.

THE REPROBATE AND THE POSTER
British Constable (to noisy reveller in front of poster)—"Why are you singing 'God Save the King?'"
Inebriated Reprobate—"I want to make the lady (hic) stand up." —Drawn by Bert Thomas.

ALL TOGETHER: "AFTER YOU, GENTLEMEN!"
—By Cheney in Passing Show, London.

SURPRISING TIME
—Albert T. Reid.

THE BANDITS' CORNER IN HELL
—Dallas News

German Reparations Crisis—North American Events

DR. WALTER SIMONS
Head of the German reparations delegation to London. (© Wide World Photos.)

THE Paris Conference of the Allied Powers had demanded that Germany pay as reparations the sum of $56,000,000,000, the payments of this sum to be spread out over forty-two years. In addition, Germany during that period was to pay a tax of 12 per cent. on her exports. Counter-proposals were drafted by the German Cabinet and presented at the conference in London that began Feb. 28. These counter-proposals offered practically $7,500,000,000, of which it was claimed that an equivalent of $2,500,000,000 had already been paid. This offer was declared by the allied statesmen to be even unworthy of consideration. On March 3 the formal answer of the Allies was presented. The Paris terms were reiterated, and as a penalty for non-compliance the Allies threatened immediate steps, as follows:

First—The occupation by allied troops of the cities of Duisburg, Duesseldorf and the Ruhr ports.

Second—Each allied country will place such a tax on German merchandise as it may deem proper.

Third—A customs boundary along the Rhine under allied control will be established.

The map shows the territory affected by these decisions.

CHAMP CLARK

Veteran member of the House of Representatives from Missouri, who died March 2. He had served nearly 25 years, and had four times been Speaker. In 1912 he had a clear majority of votes for the Presidential nomination in the Democratic National Convention for eight ballots, but could not secure the necessary two-thirds. He was born in Kentucky March 7, 1850.

(Photo © Harris & Ewing.)

Map of Panama and Costa Rica, showing territory in dispute.

DR. BELISARIO PORRAS
President of Panama.
(© Harris & Ewing.)

BOUNDARY disputes between Costa Rica and Panama have resulted in clashes between the armed forces of the two Governments in which several have been killed and wounded. From the best advices at hand, it seems that the trouble arose from the invasion by Costa Rican forces of the disputed territory of Coto on the Pacific side. Costa Rica claimed the right to this by its interpretation of an award made by President Loubet of France in 1900. Panama disputed this interpretation. The territory in question is of small economic value, and the United States Government has addressed notes to each of the disputants disapproving armed action and urging an amicable settlement.

JULIO ACOSTA
President of Costa Rica.